SEND THE RIGHT MESSAGE, TO THE RIGHT VISITOR, AT THE RIGHT TIME & PLACE
When a user engages (clicks) with an element to start the process, a reaction is triggered to provide additional information.

When a user stops filling out a form, a reaction is triggered to prevent form abandonment.

When a user is about to exit the website, a reaction is triggered to re-engage by encouraging them to complete the process.

Sample Reactions

40% increased awareness of additional information

Re-engaged with 60% of visitors who stopped filling out the form

Re-engaged 30% of abandoning visitors to continue filling out the application
The results were clear and positive with conversion rate increasing significantly among visitors who were delivered the key messages.

"The results were clear and positive with conversion rate increasing significantly among visitors who were delivered the key messages."

Digital Marketing & Strategy at Farmers

We engaged Reactful to help facilitate customers through an online application experience on our site to provide customers with relevant information at key steps along the process.

Farmers Insurance Group is an American insurer group which provides different insurance and financial services products.

Farmers challenge is encouraging visitors to submit an online application for an Accidental Death Insurance Policy.
